1 Why did we put together this Resource Pack?

We still see a gap in resources for Chinese language learning. This newly created 'GoChinese Introductory Level Resource Pack' provides teachers and students with a comprehensive, practice-focused and interactive way to support Chinese language learning. How is this Resource Pack different?

- Pick & choose units. The Resource Pack contains vocabulary and grammar units following international curriculum studies. Teachers can assign (or students can independently select) individual units to match classroom work. Teachers can opt for all or some of the below units and unit sections (see below).
- Mapped to popular Chinese language textbooks. Teachers and students can see how units in the Resource Pack map to lessons in publications such as 'Chinese Made Easy' and 'Chinese for GCSE.' In effect, teachers using any textbook will be able to use the Resource Pack with their students.
- Full range of reinforcement exercises. Student will be able to access a range of exercises, assessing all language skills. These exercises are auto-marked, with commentary displayed on why certain replies are correct or incorrect. Teachers can use these exercises for practice or as 'homework assignments / quizzes' for which the student scores are recorded for teacher and student reference.

2 The Units

The below lists the units of the Key Stage 3 Resource Pack. Most units have a 'basic' and an 'extended' section, the latter for faster learners or just to provide greater challenge. These units can be used independently and in any order of the teachers' (or students') choosing.

- Unit 1: Greetings, Names & Where are you from?
- Unit 2: The Family
- Unit 3: Personal Information & Weather
- Unit 4: School Life
- Unit 5: Jobs & Work Life
- Unit 6: Foods
